Please see Page 3 for attached white paper detailing a conversion example.

16 Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates ► See response to question 15.

 List the applicable Internal Revenue Code section(s) and subsection(s) upon which the tax treatment is based ►
 The distribution of stock is nontaxable pursuant to Internal Revenue Code Section 305(a). The basis of new stock and the held stock is determined by allocating the total adjusted basis of shares before the dividend to the total quantity of shares after the dividend, pursuant to Internal Revenue Code

 Section 307(a). Any gain or loss for cash in-lieu of fractional shares is evaluated pursuant to Internal Revenue Code Section 1001.

18 Can any resulting loss be recognized? ► Shareholders who receive cash in-lieu of fractional shares must evaluate the tax impact of recognizing a taxable gain or loss. These shareholders may recognize a gain or loss equal to the difference of the amount of cash received as compared to the tax basis allocated to the fractional share. Please consult your tax advisor regarding the tax implications of cash paid for fractional shares.

19 Provide any other information necessary to implement the adjustment, such as the reportable tax year ► The federal income tax consequences of the stock dividend must be evaluated in the tax year of each shareholder that includes the payment date, November 23, 2020.

Part II. Q 15. Additional information:

A shareholder will divide the total adjusted basis in shares of the Company's common stock held before the dividend by the number of shares of the Company's common stock owned after the dividend and subsequently adjusted for cash paid in-lieu of fractional shares.

Example: Before the dividend, a shareholder owns 205 shares of the Company's common stock with an adjusted basis of $18.00 per share, resulting in a total adjusted basis of $3,690.00. After the stock dividend, the shareholder received 4 additional shares of common stock plus cash paid in-lieu of .1 fractional shares (205 X 2% = 4.1 additional shares). The adjusted basis per share would be computed by the following steps:

- ($3,690.00 adjusted basis / 209.1 shares after the dividend) = $17.65 basis per share
- .1 fractional shares redeemed for cash
- Remaining basis in 209 shares = $17.65 X 209 shares = $3,688.85 total remaining adjusted basis
